To whom it may concern:

As the Youth Services Librarian at the Noble Neighborhood Branch of the Cleveland Heights-University Heights library system, I had the privilege of working with Shenee King from 2013-2015. Shenee's work in the department was commendable. She planned and presented programs for a variety of ages, including storytimes, crafts, and workshops. The creativity and the quality of her work were phenomenal and she brings these skills to her West African Dance class. The Noble branch hosted Shenee and the West African Dance workshop two times. Both times were fantastic successes and customers were very enthusiastic about attending, participating, and continuing the program.

Each program was about sixty minutes long and included dance tutorials and information on the music, style, geography, and history of West African dance. Our first class had close to thirty participants, ranging in age, ethnicity, and level of ability. They could not have had a better time! It's active, fun, family-friendly, and educational. At the end, we had multiple requests to repeat the program - people even provided contact information so that they would not miss out on another session.

Shenee is a professional, engaging, and talented presenter. She has years of performing and teaching experience, working with a variety of ages and it shows. I highly recommend Shenee King and her West African Dance program. I'm looking forward to booking her for a workshop again soon.

Sincerely,
