Greetings!

I am very pleased to recommend Michelle White to public libraries around the state of Ohio.

Michelle is a master teacher and performer who holds children spellbound! She frequently involves children in scientific experiments, fun and engaging experiments. She is able to make complex scientific theories and principles easily understood, without watering down the material or talking down to her young audience.

Through her company, Crystal Clear Science, (<https://www.crystalclearscience.com/>), Michelle offers a variety of programs which are a natural fit for any public library interested in STEM programming. (And aren't we all?!) She even offers seasonal science programs, like Scary Science and the Science of Snow and Ice.

We always receive positive comments and feedback from parents and children after one of Michelle's programs. In fact, a large daycare and private school in our community began booking her yearly, as well, because they heard so many enthusiastic comments about her library programs from their parents.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have further questions.

Warm regards,

Maggie
